

Health Advocate Expands Access to COVID-19 Resources

April 8, 2020

Providing trusted information can help organizations and their employees navigate the complexities of healthcare during this challenging time

PLYMOUTH MEETING, Pa., April 08, 2020 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Intrado's Health Advocate, a leading provider of health advocacy, navigation, and integrated benefits solutions, announced today that it is offering public access to COVID-19 resources and materials via a dedicated page on its website.

Throughout the ongoing pandemic, Health Advocate is providing resources to help employers and their employees during this uniquely challenging and stressful time. Personal Health Advocates, including doctors, nurses, behavioral health and other experts, are assisting members and their family members across a wide range of cases, such as:

- Addressing COVID-19 specific clinical and other questions
- Guiding them to appropriate care and responding to questions about testing
- Locating high quality, in-network providers and connecting to available telehealth resources
- Providing mental and emotional support
- Providing many other methods of support and advice

Additionally, Health Advocate has added a wide array of resources to its member website and mobile app to help people instantly get the up-to-date information they need and connect to a Personal Health Advocate for help.

To address many of the most common questions and concerns related to COVID-19, Health Advocate is posting useful information via a dedicated page on its website. These informative blog posts, webinar recordings and other resources cover a wide range of topics associated with COVID-19. Health Advocate has also added a live news feed and other information from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.

"The COVID-19 pandemic affects everyone, and now more than ever, our goal is to help organizations, their employees and family members navigate the complexities of the healthcare system and a rapidly shifting situation," said Matt Yost, President, Health Advocate.
